ALLAN ALDRICH IN DENVER ACCIDENT

News was received in this city Tuesday evening that Allan Aldrich of this city was seriously injured in an accident in Denver this week. The dispatch gave no particulars, simply saying that the young man had met with an accident causing an abscess to form near the hip and that he had been taken to a hospital where an operation would be performed at once.

It will be remembered that Allan left here about two years ago and had gone east to live with some wealthy relatives. He was on his way back to pay his parents and relatives in this city a visit, and had stopped off at Denver for a day or so, and met with some kind of an accident. The relatives here are in great suspense and have been able to learn no particulars.

CONSTABLE CASE TO BE APPEALED

Auditor Mathews and District Attoney Duncan have decided to appeal from the decision of the lower court in the case relative to the salary of constables and justices. The notice of appeal was filed this week and this office is busy printing the transcript. The case will be rushed as fast as possible as both sides are anxious for an early decision. J. W. Preston represents the officers.

New Street Superintendent

It is expected that the city trustees will on Monday evening appoint B. H. Miller superintendent of streets. The salary of the executive officer has been made only $5 per month while that of street superintendent has been raised to $80. This is done in order to get around the injunction against Miller getting his salary. There is more than one way of killing a cat other than choking it to death with soap. A. O. Carpenter, the present street superintendent, expects to retire next week. Miller has always made good in any position he has ever held and it is safe to say he will do the same in this position.

Kills Deer From Train

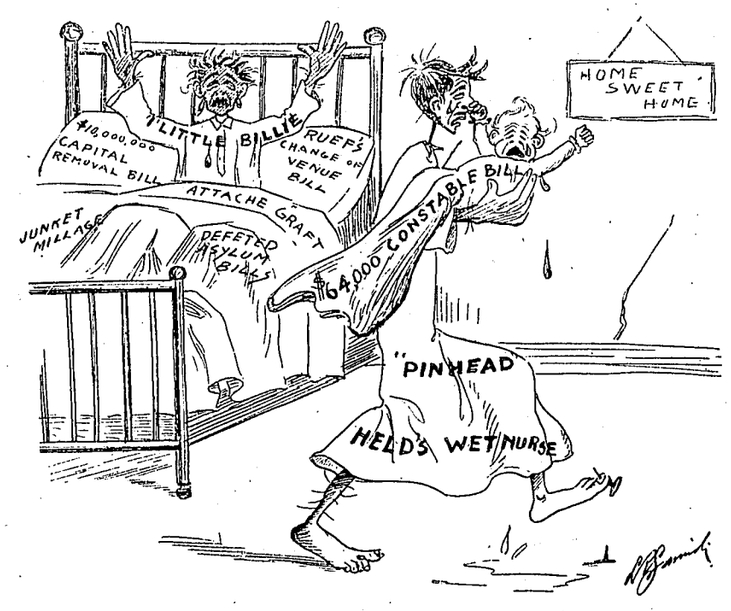
Conductor Tom Green killed a deer last Friday morning while he was bringing the morning frieght down from Willits. Tom had killed a deer once before in the same manner so when the deer started up the hill he drew a bead and pulled the trigger and the deer was his. The railroad boys feasted on deer for several days, and Tom has increased his popularity.

W. J. Hildreth Breaks His Leg

W. J. Hildreth had the misfortune to break his leg last Tuesday. He accidently walked into the cellar at the Hotel Cecille and received a severe shaking up. One of the small bones of the right leg was broken, and he was otherwise quite badly bruised up. Mr. Hildreth is now resting easily, but it will be some time before he will be able to get around as lively as he could before the accident.

L. B. Charles was over from the coast this week on business.

Trials of Little Billie And Wet Nurse, Pinhead



Little Billie—Oh Lord, I wish this child had never been born. Take it away, Georgia dear.

Pinhead—All right I'll see if I can get over and leave it on Sanford's door step. Oh, shaw its no use, the people are dead on. Ouch, you little brat, let go my nose.

Both (together) well, isn't this Hell(d).

Poor old "Pinhead" Rhodes presented a sorry spectacle last week. He could be seen dodging around the corners to avoid creditors, and every body thought he would dodge round here, get the $1,000 and end the chase, but not for Pinhead. He had an opportunity of making a thousand dollars if what the Dispatch said was not true. Pinhead says this week that the Dispatch is abusing him and not telling the truth. If so why don't he come and prove it and get the money.

We will raise the amount from $1,000 to $2,000; possibly that will cause him to look at it. HERE IT IS.

> Certificate of Deposit
>
> Commercial Bank of Ukiah
>
> Ukiah Cal., Oct. 2, 1907.
>
> This is to certify that J. B. Sanford has deposited TWO THOUSAND DOLLARS in this bank.
>
> P. CONNOLLY, Cashier.

MR. RHODES CAN HAVE THIS MONEY IF THE FOLLOWING IS NOT TRUE—

Mr. Held is absolutely responsible for the bill raising the salaries of constables and justices in Mendocino county.

PROOF—When the County Government bill passed the Senate on March 2, 1907, there was no provision in it placing these officers on a salary basis. Senate Journal, page 1330.

The Bill was amended in the Assembly on March 8th, by Mr. Held, through the Committee, Assembly Journal, page 1657 and passed the Assembly March 9th.

Bill came back to Senate on March 10th with the Held Amendment attached.

On March 9th, the Senate passed a Resolution that no more Senate bills were to be considered by the Senate, consequently it was impossible to do anything but accept the Assembly amendments, as further consideration was out of order.

These are the facts. If not Mr. Rhodes can have the the two thousand dollars on deposit in the Commercial Bank. No more nonsense, Mr. Rhodes. Come through, or SHUT UP. There is no sense in continued lying. The records show that Mr. Held is the responsible party and he has admitted it to everybody, and will not deny it.

The people are not going to hold Senator Sanford responsible for Mr. Held's delinquencies. Senator Sanford did his best to get Mr. Held to pass the asylum bills, bringing $20,500 more to the Mendocino institution. We were unable to get him to do his duty, and sent for Dr. King, Fred Handy, Directors John McNab, Fairbanks and Foster to see if they could influence him to bring the bills out of committee. He refused, and the county and the institution lost the money. Is Senator Sanford to be blamed?

Mr. Held amended the County Government Bill in the Assembly when further amendments would be out of order in the Senate, because he wanted the whole credit. Now he will hvae to have it, because he refused to allow anyone else an opportunity to amend it.

If someone had kidnapped the little fellow and taken him up in Gibson creek canyon and kept him away from Sacramento during the entire session of the legislature the asylum would have been $20,500 better off and the county over $50,000.

These are the facts, and people are getting tired of Pinhead's lying. Senator Sanford believes in a fair salary for all officials and had he had an opportunity he would have so classified the townships to make the salary commensurate with the work. He will amend the act at the next session so that the taxpayers will be greatly relieved.

PINHEAD'S whine is humorous. Why, he couldn't be maligned. We are telling some straight truth that makes the galled jade wince. To be abused by such vermin as Pinhead Rhodes is a certificate of good character. If he would rather lie than make $2,000 he will continue to lie. He will continue to lie and will not come after the $2,000 because he knows he is the most black-hearted liar that God Almighty ever created.

It Was Davis, Not David

The relatives of George David, of this city, who were much exercised of the Chicago dispatch about George Davis having had his neck broken, have received a reply from the coroner of Chicago, stating that the George Davis referred to was in reality George Davis, that his body had been identified and shipped to Baltimore. So the relatives are easy as far as that is concerned, but have not yet heard from David.

Valuable Lot Sold

J. M. Owen, the real estate man, reports that he has just closed the sale of the lot on the north west corner of State and Clay streets for Mrs. Emma Barnes to George Whitehorn. If the present growth of the town continues, as is confidently expected by everyone, it will be but a short time until this is business property, and, although it sold for a good figure, Mr. Whitehorn will no doubt make a profitable speculation of it.

Married in Lakeport

Frank Chamberlain Scott and Mrs. Lomenda Melissa Longmore thought to slip away from importunate friends in Ukiah who might want to give undue publicity to their marriage, and came to Lakeport to have it quietly performed. They secured a license and were properly tied up by Judge Bruton, and retired to the Giselman hotel, their secret thought to be unknown. But they were friendly people and Manager Green and some of the other genial people around the hotel love joking, and the the consequence was a noisy and unmusical charivari in their honor Wednesday evening. The impromptu band playing on various kitchen utensils, stormed the couple's apartments, and desisted only when the groom appeared and "made things right" with the besiegers.—Lakeport Press.

THOMAS SMYTH ANSWERS SUMMONS

Word was received here yesterday that Thomas P. Smyth had passed away suddenly on the coast the first of the week. Mr. Smyth was a surveyor in the employ of the L. E. White lumber company at Greenwood. Tom was a good hearted, whole souled fellow and made friends readily, and his death will be generally regretted. He was 70 years old, and took an active interest in politics ever since becoming of age. He was a staunch democrat and was county surveyor in the early history of the county. No democratic convention seemed complete without Tom in it.

F. C. Drew and E. B. Salsig passed through town Wednesday evening enroute to Greenwood to attend the funeral.

WOODSMAN HAS A CLOSE CALL

James Flyn had a narrow escape from being killed Saturday at August Klinkie's camp on the Noyo River and was brought to the hospital here, where he is getting along nicely. A donkey line on which there was a big strain, slipped over a stump, hitting him on the side of the head, making a deep cut, and throwing him down the hill about forty feet. He was unconscious for some time.—Advocate.

Sunday School Convention

The fourth annual meeting of the East Mendocino Sunday School Association is being held in this city this week. The meeting was called to order yesterday afternoon in the Christian church by Mrs. A. J. Thatcher, the president. A good sized crowd is in attendance, and a profitable session is assured. The services last night were in the St. John's church. This afternoon the services will be in the Christian church, and this evening at the M. E. Church, South. A wide range of subjects are on the program for discussion, and the pubilc are cordially invited to attend.

New Telephone Manager

J. L. Grantham, of Oakland, arrived in town this week and will be the manager of the local telephone office in future, Mr. J. T. Walters having resigned to go to Tonopah, Nevada. Mr. Walters made many friends while here all of whom wish him good luck in Nevada. Mr. Grantham is a very affable gentleman to meet and is delighted with our city so far. He is a Georgian by birth and will make many friends here as there are a number of southerners in this vicinity.

Hops Sell For 9 3-4 Cents

O. O. Donovan bought the Crawford hops the first of the week for 9 3-4 cents a pound. There were 141 bales in all, and they were of excellent quality. Most of the growers are holding out for a little higher figure, and think they will get it before many days.

Cecil Dutton has been admitted to the bar, passing a very creditable examination.

HUNTER LOST IN MOUNTAINS

James Davis Wanders Four Days and Three Nights Without Food

James Davis, of Alameda, got home this week a very happy man to be alive. He had returned from a hunting trip forty miles north of Willits, and had a narrow escape from starving while lost for four days and three nights in the trackless mountains.

Davis left camp early one morning on a deer hunt, taking a light lunch for his mid-day meal. He tramped over the mountains for eight or nine miles and in the afternoon started for camp. He failed to strike the trail and night came while he was wandering aimlessly in the hills. The next morning Davis ate the remnants of his lunch, feeling sure that he would strike camp that day. All that day and the next until near night he wandered. He finally located a lonely cabin where he was given food and helped to reach camp. He had wandered eight miles from camp. So exhausted did the Alamedan become after three days wandering that he left his rifle in a tree in order to lessen the weight he had to carry. He was totally exhausted, having eaten nothing for over two days, save a few wild grapes which he found along the creek banks.

HIGH SCHOOL ENTERTAINMENT

The Freshmen of the local high school were given a reception at York & Cleland's hall last Friday evening by the school. All the faculty were present and a very pleasant evening was spent. The following program was carried out:

Cornet duet, Carroll Ruddock and Harvey Prather; Address of Welcome on behalf of school, Faye Curis, Pres. Senior Class; Response on behalf of Freshmen class, Floyd Banker, Vice Pres. Class; Vocal solo, Imogene O'Brien; Remarks, Noel Garrison, Principal of school; Remarks Isabelle Wilson; Piano duett, Mrs. B. F. Butterfield and Mrs. Noel H. Garrison; Remarks, Florence Atkinson; Vocal solo, Rosalie Holtzhauser; Remarks Miss Margaret Smith; Remarks, Miss Brown.

The hall was appropriately decorated for the occasion with Japanese lanterns, and after the impromptu program, games, college songs and refreshments were in order. The school is getting down to substantial work and the teachers are all interested in their work. Prof. Garrison has shown himself to be a high class man and a most excellent scholar, and is becoming quite popular.

Wardens to Kill Deer

E. V. D. Paul and wife returned from the city where they had gone on a visit to friends. While below Mr. Paul called on the Fish and Game commission and told them of the destruction the deer were to his orchards, and asked for relief. He said he did not want to violate the law or wantonly kill the deer, but that he must protect his property. The commission sent a warden up and found the condition worse than Mr. Paul had described it. The commission will send up a warden who will trap the deer and place them elsewhere, probably on the Van Arsdale ranch. While the warden was out on the Paulheim ranch he saw eleven does in six hours, and killed a fine buck.

Card of Thanks

The undersigned take this method of thanking the many friends who so kindly assisted in the many ways that make sorrow over the death of a loved one more reconcilable. We shall never forget the kindness shown during the sorrow that came to us in the loss of our boy, Cecil. Again do we thank the friends in Ukiah.

Mr. and Mrs. Greene Clark.

STRICT LAWS TO CURB TRUSTS

ROOSEVELT DECLARES NATION HAS CONSTITUTIONAL RIGHT TO CONTROL CORPORATIONS.

President Sounds a Warning at St. Louis and Advocates the Enlargement of Our Navy.

St. Louis, Mo., Oct. 3.—Welcomed by screaming whistles, clanging bells, thundering intonations of bursting bombs and the huzzahs from thousands of human throats, President Roosevelt landed at St. Louis yesterday morning, marking the first stop of his voyage down the Mississippi River from Keokuk to Memphis, where he will attend the Lakes to the Gulf Deep Waterway Association Convention Friday. The cruise is the President's active response to a general invitation from the Governors of States along the Mississippi River, given in the belief that he will be so impressed with the enormous waste of freight-carrying energy that he will exert powerful influence in favor of committing the Government to act with definite and larger spirit toward deepening the great inland channels for navigation by ocean-going craft.

The entrance of the steamer Mississippi, bearing the President into the harbor of St. Louis, was announced by the firing of bombs and blowing of whistles. Tens of thousands of persons lined both shores of the river and across Eads bridge, the main viewpoint, stretched a chain of humanity, solidly packed from the Illinois to the Missouri side.

As President Roosevelt stepped ashore he was welcomed by fifteen Governors from various States, Congressmen and city dignitaries. The line of procession was quickly formed for the drive to the Jai Alai building, five miles from the river, where the President was to deliver his speech. By the time the procession had proceeded eight blocks rain began to fall and the President and his welcoming hosts were drenched.

Notwithstanding that President Roosevelt was caught in the rain as he stood in the open carriage bowing to the multitude, he proceeded direct to the Jai Alai building and went through the program in his wet clothes.

The President said in part:

"I have often visited St. Louis before. Now I am visiting it in the course of a trip by water, on the great natural highway, once so important, now almost abandoned, which I hope this nation will see not only restored to all its former usefulness to correspond with the extraordinary growth in wealth and population of the Mississippi Valley.

"If the Mississippi is restored to its former place of importance as a highway of commerce, then the building of the Panama Canal will be felt as an immediate advantage to the business of every city and country district in the Mississippi valley.

"This leads me up to another matter for national consideration, and that is our navy. The navy is not primarily of importance only to the coast regions. This country is definitely committed to certain fundamental policies—to the Monroe doctrine, for instance, and to the duty not only of building, but when it is built, of policing and defending the Panama Canal. We have definitely taken our place among the great world powers, and it would be a sign of ignoble weakness, having taken such a place, to shirk its responsibilities. We must steadily build up and maintain a great fighting navy. Our navy is already so efficient as to be a matter of just pride to every American. In a couple of months our fleet of great armored ships starts for the Pacific. California, Oregon and Washington have a coast line which is our coast line just as emphatically as the coast line of New York and Maine, of Louisiana and Texas. Our fleet is going to its own home waters in the Pacific, and after a stay there it will return to its own home waters in the Atlantic.

"In conclusion I wish to say a word upon the proper national supervision and control of corporations.

"Now, by the railroad, the mails, the telegraph and the telephone an immense part of our commerce is interstate. By the transformation it has escaped from the power of the State and come under the power of the nation.

"The change as regards interstate commerce has been, not in the constitution, but in the business of the people to which it is to be applied. Our economic and social future depends in a very large part upon how the interstate commerce power of the nation is interpreted.

"It is the nation alone which can, with wisdom, justice and effectiveness, exercise over these interstate railroads the thorough and complete supervision which should be exercised.

"I firmly believe that there should be national legislation to control all industrial corporations doing an interstate business, including the control of the output of their securities, but as to these the necessity for Federal control is less urgent and immediate than is the case with the railroads. Many of the abuses connected with these corporations will probably tend to disappear now that the Government—the public—is gradually getting the upper hand as regards putting a stop to the rebates and special privileges which some of these corporations have enjoyed at the hands of the common carriers. But ultimately it will be found that the complete remedy for these abuses lies in direct and affirmative action by the National Government."

"I am not pleading for an extension of constitutional power. I am pleading that constitutional power which already exists shall be applied to new conditions which did not exist when the constitution went into being."

PLAY BALL WITH MONEY

JOHN WANAMAKER SAYS THERE IS NOTHING WRONG WITH AMERICAN BUSINESS.

New York, Oct. 3.—Discussing the commercial conditions of the country former Postmaster General John Wanamaker said:

"There is nothing the matter with business in America. Wall street is a little world in itself, and every now and then it amuses itself by kicking money about as though it were engaged in a football game. But all this has little effect on the real business of the country. That goes on expanding and growing stronger every day. Stock jobbing has little or no effect on manufacturing, either. As long as there is a demand for things the mills must run. Never before have wage-earners received such large compensation as they are receiving today, and never before have the working people had such big savings bank accounts.

"A few mistakes in railway management or in the controlling of our big industrial corporations is not going to throw discredit upon the honesty and energy and ability of the entire American business world. We must not be too easily moved to criticism of the world of business as a whole because a few critics find some things that meet their disapproval."

Child Labor Law Enforced.

New York, Oct. 3.—A new law by which boys under the age of 14 are prohibited from selling papers between 10 p. m. and 6 a. m. went into effect yesterday. Boys who violate the law can be arrested either by policemen or truant officers. Boys under 10 are not allowed to sell at any time, while those between 10 and 14 have to secure Board of Education permits as formerly. The Board of Education will enforce the laws strictly.

This law is one of several new child-labor laws passed by the last Legislature. A law prohibiting the employment of children under 16 years of age in factories before 8 o'clock in the morning, or after 5 o'clock in the evening, is one of them.

Cubans Charged With Conspiracy.

Havana, Oct. 3.—Seven indictments have been found by the special judge in the conspiracy cases. The indictments charge the conspirators "with having agreed upon a plan to overthrow the Provisional Government of the United States by dynamiting bridges, burning the property of all foreigners excepting Spaniards, killing Americans and doing everything possible to prevent the realization of the coming of the sugar crop." The prisoners were removed to jail.

Taft Says Welcome Means Friendship

Tokio, Oct. 3.—Secretary Taft on the eve of his departure from Kobe, where he embarked on the steamer Minnesota for Manila, said: "The magnificent welcome accorded me by the Government and people of Japan is the most magnificent sign of the relations existing between Japan and the United States. I am confident that both countries will continue to be as friendly as they have in the past and not afford occasion for misrepresentation by anybody."

Primary Law Unconstitutional.

Springfield, Ill., Oct. 3.—The Supreme Court today handed down an opinion declaring the new primary election law unconstitutional.

JAPS WILDLY CHEER TAFT

HIS SPEECH IN TOKIO LIFTS CLOUD THAT HAS CAUSED SO MUCH TALK.

Says That War Between Japan and the United States Would Be a Crime Against Civilization.

Tokio, Oct. 2.—Secretary of War Taft aroused the wildest enthusiasm and loud cheers when, in the course of his speech at the banquet given in his honor by the municipality of Tokio and the Chamber of Commerce, he declared that war between the United States and Japan would be "a crime against modern civilization and as wicked as it would be insane," adding that neither people desired it and that both Governments would do their utmost to guard against such an awful catastrophe.

The banquet took place in the assembly room of the Imperial Hotel, Viscount Shimibusawa presiding, and was attended by prominent officials and many of the leading business men of Tokio. Mr. Taft sat on the right of Viscount Shimibusawa and Mr. O'Brien, the new American Ambassador to Japan, was seated on his left. The decorations of the hall were magnificent and a good band furnished the music. Among those present were many ladies, including Americans.

Viscount Shimibusawa in welcoming Mr. Taft paid a glowing tribute to the greatness of the nation which the Secretary represented, the friendliness which the United States had always displayed for Japan and the influence which America exerted throughout the world.

In replying Mr. Taft spoke with deep feeling and positiveness. He asserted that the talk of unfriendliness between the United States and Japan was "due entirely to the commercialism of newspapers in America." The Secretary declined to discuss the immigration question, saying that he would not trespass upon the field of the State Department. Mr. O'Brien would say that the entire matter was "easy of sensible arrangement between sensible men."

In conclusion the Secretary said he felt that the fact that the Japanese Emperor had for the second time honored him with an invitation to an audience was due to his Majesty's desire to send a message of good will to the United States and show to the world that the Japanese were friendly to the Americans.

Mr. Taft's speech was greeted with enthusiastic applause. After the banquet the assembly room was the scene of a remarkable manifestation of good will, everybody congratulating everybody else on what was considered to be a complete removal of the "little cloud" which had been hanging over the fifty years of friendship between the United States and Japan and rejoicing in the fact that a final damper had been placed upon sensational utterances regarding the possibility of strained relations between the two countries.

An especially pleasing effect was produced by the Secretary's remarks about the Japanese Emperor's intentions to send a message of good will to the United States.

China and Japan in a Deadlock.

Pekin, Oct. 2.—There has been a complete deadlock between China and Japan over Manchurian affairs since June last and the attitude of the United States toward Japan has now become a feature of the situation. The administration at Mukeden and at Pekin welcome what the officials call a "revival of American spirit" in ordering the battleship fleet to the Pacific, after apparent indifference to the Far East situation, and as a result the Chinese officials are resisting the demands of Japanese.

The situation between Russia and China on the subject of Manchuria have improved.

New York's Custom House Completed

New York, Oct. 2.—The new $7,200,000 custom house, in Bowling Green, which has been seven years in building, will be taken off the hands of the contractors today. It is practically complete. However, the collector of the port, who will have the principal offices, probably will not be quartered there much before the end of this month.

On the top floor there will be a suite of four rooms, including a shower bath, for the Secretary of the Treasury, who has never before had an office in New York.

MUSICAL SOUNDS.

Thinking Them as One Does Letters and Words Is Not Difficult.

To acquire the habit of thinking musical sounds, as one does letters and words, is not a difficult task. In fact to one who undertakes it seriously there is no difficulty greater than that of learning to read literature. The usual method of tuition, which teaches the pupil to regard this, that or the other note as identical with certain positions on his instrument, is not one best calculated to make him an efficient and intelligent reader. He never attains to independence in musical thought, but must ever refer to his instrument before he can form a fairly accurate conception of the musical story that lies silent on the page before him.

As a child may learn to read the alphabet, to form letters into words and thence into sentences and so on, just so may the music student learn to combine and use the notes before him.

Strange as it may appear, the study of reading music may be carried on mentally. For instance, while I think of a melody my mind traces its flow and all the paraphernalia of the staff and notation appear as the melody passes away into time. I realize the clef, time, and key signatures, bar lines, rhythmic divisions, and in a moment I transfer the thought to paper. People in general are accustomed to the transference of their ordinary thoughts to papers and by constant practice the labor of transmittal from brain to paper is minimized so greatly as to appear almost automatic in performance. Whatever of laborious effort appear in the process of writing music is the result of want of practice and not that this form of writing is really or intrinsically more difficult than writing in words, or demands any greater mental or manual effort. The mind is here master and directs the operations of the hand; and both gain facility from the practice which comes of thinking music.—Musician.

YOUR GOLD COINS.

See if Any of Them Is Stamped With the Letter L.

"I got hold of a gold coin a short time ago, and it was marked with a letter L, which I supposed had been stamped upon it by some one who wished to keep watch as to whether he ever had it in possession again. I pasesd it along, to my landlord, I think, and thought nothing more about it for several months. Then I found out that I had been passing 'light' coin."

"How is that?" was the question of a listener.

"All coins, whether gold or silver, upon which a large L is stamped are light weight. When you get one of these stamped coins, the only thing to do is to take it to some assayer, who will weigh it and pay you about 10 per cent less than the face value of the coin for it. He will then place it in a crucible to be melted into gold bullion.

"The government itself mutilates these coins and in so doing turns the ruined currency right back into circulation, where some innocent party will become victimized by them.

"When the light coins are tendered for duties on imports they are weighed at the custom house, quickly stamped L for light and returned to the importer. If the latter cannot pass the coin off, he must take it to the retort to be melted.

"The light coins may be rendered light in the ordinary course of abrasion in circulation or they may have been sweated by parties who sell the gold dust thus bruised off the coin. The common mode of sweating is to place a number of gold coins in a sack and shake them up for a long time, when the gold dust will gather at the bottom of the sack."—Utica Observer.

Diamond Companies in Big Pool.

New York, Oct. 1.—The De Beers Diamond Company, commonly called the diamond trust, and its principal independent competitors have formed a pool, according to cable advices. Some importers believe the prices which in the cheaper grades had begun to sag will now be firmly maintained.

NATIONAL GUARD MUSTERED OUT

COMPANY C, FIFTH REGIMENT INFANTRY, DISBAND BY ORDER OF THE GOVERNOR

Has Been in Existence for Thirty-six Years, and Was the Crack California Company.

Petaluma, Cal., Oct. 1.—Great indignation is expressed in Petaluma on account of the mustering out of Company C, Fifth Regiment Infantry, National Guard of California, which has been in existence for the past thirty-six years, and which, heretofore, has been considered one of the crack companies of the State of California.

Company C always boasted of containing the best marksmen of the National Guard of California, and not without cause, for in the recent interstate shoot at Camp Perry, Ohio, this company alone was represented by five sharpshooters, the largest number of men from any one company. The armory at Petaluma also contains numerous trophies, which are to be kept in trust by the Petaluma Library trustees.

One of the reasons for the mustering out of the company was its failure to attend the camp held this summer at the Presidio, San Francisco. A rumor to the effect that the boys declined to attend camp on account of the short distance from home of such camp is without foundation.

It is said the merchants of Petaluma are solely to blame for the non-attendance of Company C at the recent camp. A prominent member of the Petaluma Chamber of Commerce who is the employer of four of the members of the company, is said to have declined to give the men the necessary time off. There are numerous cases of the same class.

The mustering out took place last night at the company's armory. Each person was given back the entire amount of dues which he had paid to the company since its reorganization in 1899. All of the company property has been auctioned off among members of the company.

At the outbreak of the Spanish-American war the company responded with full ranks, and in the disaster of April, 1906, the company covered itself with glory by the services it rendered at Santa Rosa for twenty-nine days.

To Run for Governor to Please Wife.

Wheeling, W. Va., Oct. 1.—A child-wife's ambition is the cause of W. H. Hearne, the millionaire attorney, announcing that he will be a candidate for the Republican nomination for Governor of this State. Hearne is 60 years old. A few months ago he wedded Miss Campbell, aged 18, of St. Louis. Mrs. Hearne wants to be the first lady in the State. Mr. Hearne has never before been in politics. He will make a tour of the State in an automobile. Hearne is a brother of Frank H. Hearne, president of the Colorado Fuel and Iron Company, who recently died.

His Shave and His Nerve.

A youth with untouched face walked slowly past a barber shop, then back again, then passed and repassed, each time drawing nearer and nearer. Finally, as though he had just reached a determination, he turned in and handed his hat, coat and collar to the officiating "shine." When it came his turn he got into the chair with an air of assurance which was rather out of keeping with his haunted eyes.

"Hair cut?" queried the barber.

"Naw; shave," said the youth. "Just once over, and be kind o' careful of the neck whisker."

The barber put his hand over his face to hide a grin and went to his lather cup. He turned on the hot water and passed a wink down the line until every barber had his gaze that way. Then, with ponderous care, he lathered the face and coolly began shaving his customer with the back of the razor.

"Does she pull?" he asked after a bit.

"A leetle raw," said the customer, with fine discrimination. "Got a wire edge, hasn't it?"

The barber replied by stropping his own hand violently, then resumed shaving with the back of the razor.

"How's that?" he said.

"Fine as silk," said the customer, now grown veteran. "I tell you it's all in the stropping, Jack."—Baltimore News.

Self Winding Watches.

"Watchmaking is no longer what it used to be," said a collector. "Where will you find today artists making and selling readily watches worth $2,500 apiece? Brequet was the greatest watchmaker the world has ever seen. He was a Swiss, but he lived in France. The watch collector who hasn't a Brequet timepiece has a sadly incomplete collection. Brequet watches were the acme of beauty, of originality and of accuracy. One played a tune every hour, another had on its dial little figures that danced, a third was a self winder. They were very ingenious, those self winding watches. They worked on the pedometer principle. The motion of the body in walking kept them wound. I have a Brequet self winder, and sometimes, out of curiosity, I carry it for a week. My stride winds it, it never runs down, and it keeps, after all these years, fairly good time."—New York Press.

The Address on the Letter.

"It is not spelling alone that has been smitten by the hand of the destroyer," lamented the postman. "Punctuation has also gone by the board. When I first began to handle United States mail ten years ago the directions on envelopes were punctuated according to schoolbook rules. Abbreviations were finished off with a period, names were followed by a comma, and so so. Now the envelope that is properly punctuated is a rarity. Sometimes, just out of curiosity, I take time to look carefully through a bunch of letters. Out of, say, twenty, more than half will be entirely destitute of punctuation marks. In the few cases where an attempt has been made to punctuate hysterical dashes take the place of the periods and commas that once prevailed."—New York Globe.

Proof of His Innocence.

A southern negro was brought into the courtroom, accused of stealing a neighbor's chickens.

"Mister George Washington Shintopp, did you steal those chickens?" asked the judge pointedly.

"No, sah, jedge. Ah is toe 'spectable fo' dat."

"But it is stated on good authority that a bundle of feathers was found in your back yard the day before Christmas."

"Dat 'sinneration, jedge, des proves mah innocence, coz how could de fedders be found in mah back yard de day befo' Chris'mus when mah wife didn't pluck dose chickens until de day after Chris'mus?"—Circle.

A Patriot.

"Say, Freddie, what's a patriot?"

"Oh, it's one of those fellows who tries to make something out of his country."—Judge.

Willits, Oto. 1—Last week A. W. Foster came up from San Rafael on business connected with the giving of the railroad right of way though the large holdings of the Northwestren Redwood company just north of the depot. The company has given the railroad 27.36 acres for the car yards, roundhouses, machine shops and the other things that go with a railroad division. This gift is worth not less than $15000 and it shows that the company always leads when it comes to showing public spirit. The construction work is now being rushed but the force is still small. A Certain cure for croup--Used for Ten Years Without a Failure

Mr. W. C. Bott, a Star City, Ind., hardware merchant, is enthusiastic in his praise of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. His children have all been subject to croup and he has used this remedy for the past ten years, and though they much feared the croup, his wife and he always felt safe upon retiring when a bottle of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy was in the house. His oldest child was subject to severe attacks of croup, but this remedy never failed to effect a spedy cure, He has recommended it to friends and neighbors and all who have used it say that it is unequaled for croup and whooping cough. GEORGE LEDFORD BADLY INJURED

Boonville, Oct. 2—George Ledford, of Cloverdale, who has been driving the surveyor's team was seriously hurt near Philo last week. He was carried to the home of John L. Prather, and Drs. Diddle of Boonville, and Dean, of Wendling, were hastily summoned. On examination it was found that the left leg was broken, the bone of the head fractured at the base of the brain and the bone in the left side of the face was broken. The Odd Fellows, of which he is a member, sent up a trained nurse and several members of his family are at his bedside. He is not delirious and as he remembered, he had just shut the gate going to the river at Gowan's. As he was climbing on the wagon again the horses took fright and ran, and he fell to the ground.

It is supposed that the wheel ran over his head. They found him lying there and he did not recover consciousness until two o'clock the next morning. He with his brothers and father, Fount Ledford have been running the stage through here, and he has a host of friends who are anxiously hoping for his recovery.

It Takes Cash.

"Why are there no lynchings in this city?" said a New York policeman. "Because the officers always get there ahead of a rope. There are several patrolmen on each block, and it takes some time to hunt up a hardware store and get a rope. The man who goes after it usually loses his enthusiasm when he finds that even a clothesline means cash on delivery."

When Gunpowder Was New.

A curious feature about the evolution in methods of hunting was the hesitation with which gunpowder was taken up by the great nobles. Not only did it take quite a century to familiarize hunters with it, but the evidence that has come down to us shows that the humble classes were the first to use it for shooting game. Maximilian, ardent sportsman that he was, tells us himself that he could shoot farther and with greater accuracy with his crossbow than his keeper could with the fire tube. To prove this he tells us the well known story of a certain chamois standing at 200 fathoms, which, after being pronounced as too far off by his henchman, who was armed with one of the first sporting firearms mentioned in print, comes tumbling down, pierced at the first attempt by the emperor's bolt. From other sources we learn of strict measures being adopted to prevent poachers and "wood loafers" using firearms, and this at a period when princes still used the cumbrous crossbow and spear. It was only in the last quarter of the sixteenth century that firearms had ousted other weapons for certain forms of the chase, the deer battue being among the latter.—Gentleman's Magazine.

The Poisonous Black Sea.

The Black sea, which in some parts has a depth of more than 6,500 feet, is poisoned by sulphureted hydrogen wherever the water is deeper than 1,200 feet. This accounts for the curious fact that there is no organic life below that depth, excepting perhaps some bacteria of very low order, impregnated with sulphur. The causes for this phenomenon are explained by the quick outflow of the fresh water through the Bosporus, while salt water coming from the Mediterranean enters through a deeper current into the depths of the Black sea. The waters on the surface are, therefore, controlled absolutely by horizontal currents of considerable force, and vertical currents which might carry the noxious gases from the bottom to the surface and fresh oxygen from the surface to the bottom are hardly ever noticeable. The water at great depths is so saturated with sulphuric gas by the disintegration of organic matter sinking to the bottom by reason of its weight that no fish or other living being which needs oxygen for its organic system can exist beyond a stated depth.

Station Derelicts.

In every station one may find those who do not take trains or meet them, nor attend those who do. Some come to the waiting room only to wait—respectable derelicts still hoping that something will turn up, and wrecks who have given up hope. It is a warm place in winter, the seats are comfortable, and thoughtless passengers often obligingly leave newspapers behind them. It makes good waiting. There are so few other places to wait—so cruelly few for women adrift, but not yet foundered. Sometimes, to deceive that meddlesome busybody, the station detective, they carry in traveling bags and pretend to be pulled down with their burdens, emptied long since at the pawnshops.—Jesse Lynch Williams in Century.

Why He Let Them Wed.

Dean Pigon had a quaint old verger whose name was Sagar. Imagine him, a venerable figure with gray hair, skullcap, gown and verger's staff. In ignorance they had married a man to his deceased wife's sister. Sagar, whose business it was to settle the matter about the banns, was at once cross examined. "Oh, yes, vicar," said he, "I knowed right well! I knowed parties." "But why did you not tell me? I should have forbidden them." "Well, vicar, it was just this way, do you see. One of the parties was eighty-four and t'other eighty-six. I says to myself: 'Lord, it can't last long. Let 'em wed, and bother the laws!'"—London News.

A Contrast.

Mr. Dapper is one of that class of men who are scrupulously neat in their personal appearance, but who never fail to leave chaos behind them in the scene of their preparations. A neighbor recently called on Mrs. Dapper and remarked:

"One rarely sees a more well kept man than your husband. He always looks as if he had just come out of a bandbox."

"Very true," returned Mrs. Dapper, "but"—with a sigh—"you ought to see the bandbox."—Pearson's Weekly.

Plain Living.

How totally different is the effect of a plain, rational and nutritious diet upon the man who eats to live. His appetite requires no pampering, and yet he enjoys his food, and at the same time—what a gormand is deprived of—he is thoroughly alive to all the pleasures of life and able for its duties.—Dr. Robert Bell in Health Record.

His Awful Dream.

Sydney Smith had been ill, and a friend having called to see him inquired what sort of night he had passed. "Oh, horrid, horrid, my dear fellow! I dreamt I was chained to a rock and being talked to death by Harriet Martineau and Macaulay."

A Polite Thrust.

"Professor," said a senior, trying to be pathetic at parting, "I am indebted to you for all I know."

"Pray don't mention such a trifle," was the reply.—Pennsylvania Punch Bowl.

Life is hard for many people, and we have no right to withhold any word or touch or act of love which will lighten the load or cheer the heart of any fellow struggler.—La Belle Star.

Woman's Wiles.

"What a hold Maud seems to have on all her rejected suitors."

"Why shouldn't she, the artful thing! She always tells a man when she refuses him that she is afraid to marry a handsome man because she would be so jealous."—Cincinnati Enquirer.

Hamilton Bever died at his home near Noyo Tuesday morning, after an illness lasting some months. Mr. Bever was one of the substantial citizens of the coast and had many friends here and in his own neighborhood. He had been a resident of Noyo for 25 years where he had a small farm. He was born in the State of Missouri April 1, 1845 and came to Mendocino in 1861. In 1869 he was maried at Mendocino to Miss Annie Porter, his surviving widow.

Harvey Reynolds returned the first of the week from Rea river, Cape Mendocino, where he secured a fine band of beef cattle for H. S. Tregoning. He got 110 which averaged 550 pounds. Considerable rain has fallen in that country and green feed is nearly six inches high. The cattle he got were mostly from the Russ ranch.

An Opportune Telegram.

"One time when I and some other lawyers were engaged in defending a prisoner charged with murder," said an attorney, "Judge Shope was among those employed on the side of the prosecution. We made a vigorous effort to get our man's head away from the halter, and our chances seemed fair enough until Shope addressed the jury. He didn't seem to make much of an impression at first. They listened rather indifferently, but all at once a circumstance arose that turned things in his favor.

"While he was speaking a messenger boy entered the courtroom and handed him a telegram, which, still continuing his address to the jury, he mechanically tore open. Suddenly his eyes dilated and stared intently on the words before him. Then his voice faltered and broke, his breath came and went in short gasps, his chest heaved and fell with deep emotion, and turning his tearful eyes on the jury, he said in sobbing tones:

"'Excuse me, gentlemen. I fear I cannot go on. I have just received the news of the death of a dear friend and who has been of the most material benefit to me in my profession and whose demise leaves a gap that none can ever fill. Excuse me, I beg of you. I am utterly unmanned and broken down at this sad calamity.'

"Some members of the jury expressed their regret and urged him to continue his address, and he did so. The result was that he won the sympathy of the jury, and my unfortunate client was sent to the penitentiary for life.

"When the trial was over, somebody picked up the telegram that had so opportunely come into the hands of the able advocate. It had been sent by a waggish friend and simply contained the favorite expression of a character in one of Charles Reade's novels, an old soldier in 'The Cloister and the Hearth,' which is, 'Have courage, friend; the devil is dead.'"

The Perplexed Minister.

A Baptist minister in Virginia was noted for quaint sayings. He was the owner of a few yoke of oxen, and the loss of one of a favorite yoke—a loss he could ill afford—was well nigh inconsolable. His good wife, endeavoring to comfort him, quoted, "The Lord giveth and the Lord taketh away."

"Yes, Elizabeth, I know, but I can see what the Lord wanted with that steer."

INGRATITUDE.

Blow, blow, thou winter wind!
Thou are not so unkind
As man's ingratitude.
Thy tooth is not so keen,
Because thou art not seen,
Although thy breath be rude.

Freeze, freeze, thou bitter sky,
That dost not bite so high
As benefits forgot!
Though thou the waters warp,
Thy sting is not so sharp
As friend remembered not.
—Shakespeare.

They Were Really Agreed.

Former Lieutenant Governor Woodruff of New York tells of the efforts of a kindly disposed man in Albany to arbitrate between a man and his wife who were airing their troubles on the sidewalk one Saturday evening.

"Look here, my man," exclaimed the Albany man, at once intervening in the altercation, "this won't do, you know"—

"What business is it of yours?" demanded the man angrily.

"It's my business only so far as I may be of service in settling this dispute, and I should like very much to do that."

"This ain't no dispute."

"No dispute!" came in astonished tones from the would be peacemaker. "Why, you"—

"I tell you that it ain't no dispute. She thinks she ain't goin' to get my week's wages, and I know she ain't! That ain't no dispute!"—Lippincott's.

Willie's Cross Eyed Bear.

Aunt Marion took her small nephew to church one Sunday, and when Willie got home his mother asked him how he liked to attend church.

"Well," said Willie, "I liked it, only they sang a funny song."

"What was it?"

"About a cross eyed bear."

"What! You must be mistaken."

But Willie was sure he was right. When Aunt Marion appeared, she was questioned, and this was found to be the hymn: "A Consecrated Cross I'd Bear!"

He Had Left It.

A prominent railroad man hurried down the lobby of a Binghamton hotel and up to the desk. He had just ten minutes in which to pay his bill and reach the station. Suddenly it occurred to him that he had forgotten something.

"Here, boy," he called to a negro bellboy, "run up to 48 and see if I left a box on the bureau. And be quick about it, will you?"

The boy rushed up the stairs. The ten minutes dwindled to seven, and the railroad man paced the office. At length the boy appeared, empty handed.

"Yas, suh," he panted breathlessly. "Yas, suh, yo' left it, suh."—Everybody's.

The Lord and the Barber.

His Secret.

"You ought not to work such long hours. Surely your boss can get along without you part of the time."

"Sure he can, but I don't want him to find it out."

The Pot and the Kettle.

A portly German of obvious Hebraic ancestry boarded a Broadway car. He handed the conductor—a ruddy faced Irishman—a transfer not good on that particular line. The inevitable wrangle followed, in which much vehement language found expression, colored with a strong Hibernian flavor and an unmistakable Teutonic accent.

At length the fat German rose, but before he left the car shook his fist in the conductor's face and exclaimed, with profound contempt: "You! You are no Amer-rican citissen! You have not yet lost your broc-que."—Lippincott's.

All's Fair In Love and War.

A soldier belonging to a brigade in command of a general who believed in a celibate army asked permission to marry, as he had two good conduct badges and money in the savings bank.

"Well, go away," said the general, "and if you come back to me a year from today in the same frame of mind you shall marry. I'll keep the vacancy."

On the anniversary the soldier repeated his request.

"But do you really, after a year, want to marry?" inquired the general in a surprised tone.

"Yes, sir; very much."

"Sergeant major, take his name down. Yes, you may marry. I never believed there was so much constancy in man or woman. Right face; quick march!"

As the man left the room, turning his head, he said, "Thank you, sir; but it isn't the same woman."—Ladies' Home Journal.

won't let you have any more furloughs."

"That settles it! Oi suppose Oi can't get the furlough then?"

"No, I'm afraid not, Patrick."

It was Patrick's turn now to eye the colonel as he started for the door. Stopping suddenly, he said:

"Colonel, can Oi say something?"

"Certainly, Patrick. What is it?"

"You won't get mad, colonel, if Oi say it?"

"Certainly not, Patrick. What is it?"

"Oi want to say there are two splendid liars in this room. Oi was never married in me loife."

A Regard For Appearance.

A milliner endeavored to sell to a colored woman one of the last season's hats at a very moderate price. It was a big white picture hat.

"Law, no, honey!" exclaimed the woman. "I could nevah wear that. I'd look jes' like a blueberry in a pan of milk."

The Widows Objected.

The editor of a little western paper was in the habit of cheering up his subscribers daily with a column of short pertinent comments on their town, their habits and themselves. The department on account of its intimate personal flavor was the most popular thing in the paper.

On a hot day, when a simoom whistled gayly up the streets of the town, depositing everywhere its burden of sand, the editor brought forth this gem of thought:

"All the windows along Main street need washing badly."

The next morning he was waited on by a platoon of indignant citizens, who confronted him with the paragraph in question fresh from the hands of the compositor and informed him fiercely that he had gone too far. After a hasty and horrified glance he admitted that he had.

It now read:

"All the widows along Main street need washing badly."—Everybody's.

When to Shoot a Critic.

At a supper party at the Garrick club in London some years ago a theatrical manager wound up a humorous speech by declaring his conviction that it would be to the advantage of the drama if a muster were made of all the theatrical critics and they were shot offhand. Joseph Knight, the critic, called upon to reply to this playful stricture, rose and in his richest tones spoke as follows:

"Gentlemen, I have not the faintest objection, understand me, to the course proposed by Mr. X. provided that in mercy we are shot before being invited to witness such entertainments as our dear friend has recently produced at his theater."

It is only imperfection that complains of what is imperfect. The more perfect we are the more gentle and quiet we become toward the defects of others.—Fenelon.

Accidental Success.

"In literature," said a publisher, "popular success frequently comes by accident. A remarkable case was that of J. H. Shorthouse. This man, a poor chemist, spent some years writing a book called 'John Inglesant.' But the publishers would have none of 'John Inglesant,' and finally Mr. Shorthouse printed 100 copies at his own expense.

"Only forty of these copies sold, one purchaser being a photographer. The photographer took Mr. Gladstone's picture some weeks later, and the old man chose a studious pose, sitting with a volume in his hand. He bent in absorption over the work, which happened accidentally to be 'John Inglesant,' and in the thousands of copies of the photograph that were sold by accident the book's name was plainly to be made out.

"Mr. Gladstone was regarded as a great critic, and the people thought he desired to recommend 'John Inglesant.' What was the result? Within the year 300,000 copies of 'John Inglesant' had been sold, and Shorthouse was a made man."

Two Tall Ones.

"Eagles and hyenas, if they are starving, will eat themselves," said a nature fakir.

"Oh, of course."

"It's the truth. Pliny mentions it in his natural history, and I have proved it by experiment. I starved an eagle three days, and he began to tear chunks out of his thigh and eat them. The thing was so sickening to me that I only permitted it to go on a day. I got two good photographs of it for my last book, then I restored the eagle's rations again. The poor fellow had made a hole in his thigh as big as your fist, and to this day he walks lame.

"And the hyena? The hyena was worse still. At first he was obstinate and refused to touch himself; but one night I heard angry growls from his cage and, going down with a lantern, I found him eating his hind leg. He had made great progress. He had got away with about three pounds. I believe if I hadn't come down in time he'd have devoured himself completely."—Exchange.

Strained the Jar.

A little old woman with a sharp nose and sharper tongue was in the country grocery store buying supplies. Among other things she brought in from her cart was a battle scarred jug, which she ordered to be filled with treacle.

At last, when her purchases were completed, she began looking over the account, item by item, before paying.

"What's this?" she exclaimed. "You have charged me for two gallons and a half of treacle."

"Yes, ma'am."

"But that jug holds only two gallons."

"You must be mistaken. I measured the treacle carefully, and it took two gallons and a half to fill it."

"Well," said the old woman with a sigh, "I don't so much mind having to pay for the treacle, but I do object to having the old jug strained by your putting in half a gallon more than it will hold."—Strand Magazine.

Plane Sailing.

All plain sailing. This term is so spelled even in nautical works of some age, but plane sailing is the correct form. Before Mercator invented the sea chart which goes by his name all charts were on a plane projection. In using these the ship's course was treated as an angle and the distance, difference of latitude and departure as the sides of a right angled triangle. There were very large errors in plane charts, yet all the world was charted on them and all the great voyages of discovery made before Mercator's projection came into use. Plane sailing was the simplest of all sailings, and thus came the present meaning of the term.

Pretty Useful Shoes.

It would be difficult to realize what the Frieslander would do without his klompen, or wooden shoes, for they have a hundred uses. With them he bails out his boat, corrects his children and scoops up a drink of water wherever he may be. He places in them his worms for fishing, uses them as missiles in a free fight, digs with them, measures dry goods with them, and a hundred other things. The klompen are cheap; they cost about fifteen pence a pair, man's size, and Dutchmen's feet are not Cinderella-like by any means.—Wide World Magazine.

His Query.

Wilfred was taken to the lake, which was entirely frozen over, and the smooth ice glittered in the sunlight. It was the first time the little fellow had seen this body of water covered with ice, and, after viewing it for a few minutes, he turned to his mother and asked innocently:

"Say, mamma, who put the lid on the lake?"—Circle.

Her Late Husband.

Hubby (returning from his club at 6 a. m. and finding his wife, dressed in widow's weeds, awaiting him)—What on earth are you in mourning for?

"My late husband," came the tearful reply.

Didn't Fire Him.

A kind old gentleman, seeing a small boy who was carrying a lot of newspapers under his arm, said, "Don't all those papers make you tired, my boy?"

"Naw, I don't read 'em," replied the lad.—Canadian Courier.

Aspiration sees only one side of every question; possession many.—Lowell.

Curran's Retort.

Justice Robinson's encounter with John Philpot Curran has been stated by Lord Brougham to have been the most successful instance of repartee on record. Judge Robinson was known to be the author of some anonymous pamphlets, a circumstance which gave Curran an opportunity to retort when the judge made a brutal attempt to crush him when a young and inexperienced man at the bar.

"I have searched all my lawbooks," said Curran, "and I can find no precedent on the point."

"Your law library," said the judge "is rather contracted."

"My books," replied Curran, "may be few, but the title pages give me the writers' names. My shelf is not disgraced by any of such rank absurdity that their very authors are ashamed to own them."

"If you say another word, sir," said the judge, "I'll commit you."

"Then, my lord," replied Curran, "it will be the best thing you have committed this term."

The judge endeavored to get Curran disbarred, but failed.

Not the Store He Meant.

Crumpled in his hand was a batch of shopping bills, whose intermittent rustling, as the clutch of their possessor relaxed and again tightened, afforded ample testimony to the cause of his lordship's displeasure.

Gently and with all her wooing arts evidently in hair trigger readiness the young wife approached the offended one and began:

"Lovey, now don't sit here pouting all by yourself like a bad natured little boy. Such actions, as you very well know, if you'll only stop to think it over, will not at all contribute to the making of that blissful home you were so prone to picture to me during our courting days. Don't you recall it, dearie, and how eloquent you used to grow over the happiness the future had in store for us?"

With the spell of his displeasure partly broken by her persuasive manner, and yet with some touch of tartness in his tone, he turned and replied:

"Yes, I do, but I assure you, madam, that in that remark there was not even a remote hint of a department store."—Boston Courier.

No Way Out of It.

"We are worried about Julia. She got out of a sickbed to go to the matinee."

"How could she?"

"She had to go; she had a ticket."

UKIAH, CALIFORNIA, FRIDAY, OCTOBER 4, 1907.

Mr. Held And The Taxpayers

Now that the taxpayers will soon have to begin paying the fall installment of taxes it is in order for them to do a little thinking. On account of Mr. Held, the taxpayers of this county will have to pay in the next four years $50,000 more for the salaries of constables and justices, or over $12,000 a year. This is quite a good deal of money, and would rebuild the Gualala, Garcia, Navarro, Largo, Big river and Eel river bridges. Or the $50,000 would make some excellent roads; it would make a fine automobile boulevard from Ukiah to Cloverdale and bring in a first-class lot of tourist travel. So this is what Mendocino county lost through Mr. Held.

If Capital Removal passes and the state is forced to expend $10,000,000 more for a new capital building, Mr. Held will be to blame as far as this county is concerned for he voted for the measure. TEN MILLION dollars is quite a little sum of money. If distributed among the fifty-seven counties Mendocino county's share would be nearly $200,000. Would the people of this county prefer to spend that $200,000 at home on the roads and bridges, or throw it away on a new capital building, when we have the best one in the union? Think of it; $200,000 would make macadamized boulevards throughout almost the entire county, and the money would be spent at home, and someone here would get some benefit out of the expenditure.

Mr. Held, however, did not want any money to come into the county at all. Not content with wanting to spend large sums uselessly, he deliberately killed Senator Sanford's asylum bills that would bring $20,500 more into the county for the erection of needed buildings at the local state hospital.

These things the taxpayers should think about. If Mr. Held had not been in the legislature the tax rate would not have been over $1.80 this year. While you are thinking about these financial matters, also remember that Mr. Held voted for the infamous Grafter's bill that had for its object the turning loose of Schmitz, Ruef, Glass, Calhoun, and all the other grafters, both large and small. Those who dance must pay the fiddler, and Mendocino county is dancing to a Hell(d) of a rapid and expensive time.

Try Some Real Reform

Willis J. Abbot is one of the few Washington correspondents who ever gives evidence that he sees an economic fact. He says in the Johnstown Democrat:

"Is it any wonder that desertion by enlisted men from our army and navy presents one of the most serious problems; that it is impossible to get new recruits; and that re-enlistments are so few and far between? There can be no doubt that if the status quo is to be maintained; then all salaries of all employes in the government service should be increased 50 per cent to keep pace with the increased cost of living. But why not do something to eradicate those abuses which have caused this tremendous cost of living?

Why not revise a tariff that allows the protected trusts to undersell all comptitors abroad, while they charge their protectors twice as much at home? Why not inaugurate a Government system of currency that will give the people a larger use of their money rather than a few bankers a monopoly over it? Why not inaugurate a sytsem of taxation that will make those who derive the greatest benefit from our Government contribute their fare share to its support?

To attempt to meet bad conditions by increasing the budget is like pouring in at the spigot what runs out at the bunghole. Reform the causes of abnormal prices and much of the necessity for increased prices will disappear.

United States District Attorney Devlin believes he can convince the people of California that he can serve two masters—the people of the United States and the Southern Pacific Company—at the same time. He can do that as well as Gillett can serve the people of California and the Southern Pacific.—The Star.

Sanford's Graduated License Tax on Corporations produces $700,000 annually, or $2,800,000 in four years. Mr. Held's constable bill takes out of the treasury $50,000 in four years. No one has heard Mr. Rhodes giving Senator Sanford any credit for this as yet. It's only the bad things Mr. Held did that Mr. Rhodes gives Senator Sanford credit for.

We hear a great deal of unions now days. Let us have another union by all means made up of all kinds of people of various creeds and politics, all agreeing not to pay for their newspapers. How readily a name for the new union suggests itself—The United Delinquents. Such a union, or whatever you might call it, would certainly be a large one, and would doubtless outnumber any other union.

The Herald congratulates the Dispatch-Democrat on entering its 39th. year of its existence. Borther Sanford has made it a most excellent newspaper. Mr. Sanford is enterprising, and keeps his splendid journal up to the front rank. It leads all other newspapers in Ukiah.—Little Lake Herald.

As the scriptures emphasize, men do not gather grapes of thorns or figs of thistles. Neither can a Republican President gather the grapes and figs of well-directed anti-trust legislation from the thorns and thistles of a Republican trust-ridden majority in Congress.

Secretary Taft has fired the first gun of his campaign for the presidential nomination. He is trying to wear Teddy's old shoes, but does not know exactly how to put them on.

EDWARD R. TAYLOR.
Doctor, lawyer and literary man, who is San Francisco's new mayor.

PINHEAD'S LYING RECORD EXPOSED

When ever a scoundrel is caught red banded he rails at the person exposing him. Pinhead Rhodes began a carnival of lying again a few weeks ago and the Dispatch exposed him. He now says the Dispatch is abusing him and is not telilng the truth. If the Dispatch told an untruth about anything in the recent controversy Mr. Rhodes could have made a thousand dollars very easily by coming over here, presenting his proof, and getting his money. Instead of doing that he puts on a sanctimonious, injured air. Here's the record from "Hard Times:"

In July, the Times, in writing about "Probating a dead man's will." could not tell the truth, but went out of the way and insinuated that Public Administrator Taylor, McNab & Hirsch and Frank Caughey were parties to an awful crime. These gentlemen "jumped" Pinhead and next week he admitted he lied and apologized.

In an August or September issue, in writing about the "hoboo" fees, the Times had to lie about the executive officer of Ukiah. Judge Wilson proved Pinhead to be a liar. Next issue Pinhead was forced to admit his lie and duly apologized for it.

In the same issue he willfully and maliciously lied on Supervisor Saxon. When brought to time he tried to side step and lay the blame on some imaginary person, and shifted the responsibility. He admitted he lied in the next issue. Supervisor Saxon would have sued the irresponsible fellow for slander but knew that a judgment was all he could get.

Again, in the same issue Pinhead lied about the Express company and its way of doing business during the trying times following the earthquake. Mr. Cheesebro went over and "jumped" Pinhead, and the scaly headed little fellow begged for mercy, and in his next issue admitted he lied and begged pardon profusely under the heading of "Glad to Know it."

This is Pinhead's record taken from his own paper. In addition to that he has lied about the editor of the Dispatch or some other Democratic office holder in the county almost every week.

The poor idiot is to be pitied. He has made a successful failure of everything he ever attempted, and is naturally jealous of a fellow editor. Senator Sanford has attained a high position in his party in the state and in the legislature. Pinhead could not be elected assistant secretary of the scavenger's union in his own party or in the county. So he is simply green with envy. The people of the county will pardon us for paying attention to such vermin, at all, but exposing such a malicious whelp is on a par with prosecuting the grafters.

FORT BRAGG MAN IS HELD UP

Ben Waldo met with a little experience Sunday morning at 3 o'clock, which he will not forget in a hurry. Ben was retuning from a dance, after seeing his best girl home, and between the Gibson and Ross residence on Laurel street, a man shoved a pistol in his face and told him to hold up his hands Ben's hands went skyward and the robber went through his pockets, taking $17 and a watch valued at $40. The man had no mask on, and Ben says that he is sure he can recognize the man if he ever runs across him.

Several hard looking cases are suspicioned by the officers as having a hand in the affair and they are being closely watched.—Advocate.

Grand Entertainment

Through the co-operation of the Ukiah Concert Band, and the organ circle of the M. E. Church, South, Ukiah is to be visited by the "Circuit Folks" under the management of the Lyceum Entertainment Bureau of Des Moines, Iowa. This is a privilege which has never before been offered the citizens of Ukiah and vicinity, and it required considerable effort on the part of those interested to meet all the conditions necessary to secure this course.

To our people who are accustomed to visit San Francisco for the sake of a higher grade of entertainment, we say, stay at home, we promise something that will highly entertain you. Give your influence toward establishing a cleaner and better grade of amusement than that offered by the average traveling entertainers.

The first number will introduce the Hon. Jos. G. Camp, the "prince of entertainers," "the orotor of the Southlands," whose majestic speech has captivated the thousands of his hearers wherever he has gone, carrying them with him into the realm of the beautiful and at the same time incorporating messages of sublime truth into their very existence. His unconscious grace and purity of diction, in treating with lofty themes have brought forth the unbounded praise of our nation's great critics. Hear him on October 10th, 1907.

Following Mr. Camp will appear:

The Garber-Howe Entertainers, November 11th, 1907. Each, a "Marvel" in his line.

Midland Jubilee Singers, November 29th, 1907. "Unexcelled" from the cotton fields.

Prof. J. L. Zwickey, January 7th, 1908. One of America's greatest artists.

Wilbur Star Concert Co., January 30th, 1908. No American troup of musicians has been more heartily welcomed.

The last four numbers mentioned will receive further notice in the future issues of this paper. Don't forget to hear Camp, October 10th, 1907. Tickets at F. M. Wilson's.

Willits Merchant Honored

The North of the Bay Counties Promotion committee held a meeting at Napa last Saturday and a decidedly interesting meeting was the result. It is the intention of the committee to thoroughly advertise the resources of these counties during the coming year. Mendocino county came to the front in good shape and P. I. Lancaster, of Willits, was elected president of the association for the coming year. Mr. Lancaster will prove a live man to head the movement.

Court House News

The fees collected by Sheriff Donohoe during September amounted to $123.31.

Recorder Holbrook collected fees during September to the amount of $285.10. He recorded 295 instruments.

During September there were begun in the superior court two probate, six criminal and twenty-nine civil cases. There were nineteen marriage licenses issued.

Sacred Organ Recital

Rev. C. C. Thompson will preach his last sermon during this conference year next Sunday morning at the M. E. Church, South. In the evening there will be a sacred organ concert given by Mrs. Noel H. Garrison, assisted by the choir. Mrs. Garrison is a musician of state reputation and will render a very fine program. Ukiah should feel proud to have such a noted organist in our midst.

Railroad Work to be Rushed

Work on the extension of the railroad from Willits is to be rushed with all possible dispatch from now on. Work on the Willits end of the line is now in progress, and from Eureka papers it is learned that contracts for the work from that end are to be let this week, so it is evident that the railroad people intend to build as soon as possible.

Jail Record Broken

There are only five boarders now in Hotel Donohoe, which the sheriff says breaks the record from whence the memory of man runneth not to the contrary. This is certainly pleasing to the taxpayers and every body concerned. As winter comes on, however, more boarders can be expected.

Work for Students

Several high school students of both sex are desirous of obtaining work during the school term for their board and lodging. The students are deserving and should be commended in their efforts to secure an education. Those desiring such help will please notify the undersigned.
